Ways to give back during COVID-19

Help get technology to people without so students can learn online, adults can find jobs, and seniors can connect with loved ones!

Tech Goes Home empowers communities to access and use digital tools to overcome barriers and advance lives. They are working across service providers in the Greater Boston area to provide low income individuals and families with technology bundles to they can access critical resources and information during social distancing.

Each bundle includes a brand new Chromebook, computer accessories, and internet access for 6 months. Tech Goes Home will also provide each family with lessons on digital literacy to ensure they can use their technology to the best of their ability.

Every $500 donation to Tech Goes Home provides a family with everything they need to navigate their resources during COVID.
